

The NHS keeps records about your health and the care you receive from us

This enables us to provide you with the best care possible and to improve services for everyone.

Your information helps us to:

- Ensure your care is consistent, even if you are referred to other services.
- Predict potential future health needs of individuals or whole populations.
- Assess the performance and quality of NHS services.

Pick up a leaflet at reception about how we use your records or visit: www.leicestercityccg.nhs.uk
